Early Life Lessons

It was a trip I'll never forget. Seven years old at the time, I was on a road trip across the USA with my parents.

Day five of the trip. Passing by towering cliffs along the Colorado highway, everything seemed so bitarre, nothing like back~~m~~ our Boston neighborhood. Suddenly, we^{sp} turned onto an exit. Right as I was about to ask where we were headed, my father exclaimed, "We're climbing up a hill and spending the night there!" He pointed to an enormous hill. I was confused. How was I supposed to climb such a steep slope? My mother¹⁰⁰, being the caring, worrisome person that she is, was also disappointed and called my father ignorant. To that he, who always spoke in a calm manner and never raised his voice, said, "Honey, you don't understand. I'm trying to raise my daughter so that she can overcome challenges and enjoy¹⁵⁰ them. This will make her a stronger person." Although his words seemed bewildering to me at the time, they have had a profound effect on me.

I have to admit that ~~at first~~ climbing the hill was indeed challenging. But words cannot describe how amazing it felt to reach the top! All tired¹⁰⁰, panting, we settled on the grass. We paid a park ranger to drive our car up. My father roasted marshmallows in the warm fire and my mother wrapped me in~~in~~ a cozy blanket and kissed me on the forehead. ~~I~~^{had} never felt better.
