Attendance of museums and galleries

Introduction

The aim of this report is to summarise the data on English museums and galleries and outline ways to increase people's attendance.

Statistical Information

According to the social statistics, nearly 15 mln people visit national museums every year and this number tends to increase. In comparison to 2013 nowadays the rate of visits shows growing interest in the country's history and science. However, Natural History Museum and Science Museum are known to be the less visited in 2015 than in 2013 due to admission charges introduction.

Recommendations

What could be done to increase people's attendance is applying a free entrance for visitors so that the idea to study the national culture would appeal more for those who cannot afford themselves to pay the entrance fee. In addition, free entrance must be more appealing than a necessity to buy a ticket. Also, I would strongly recommend to organise the Day of Museums at schools and universities in order to make young people interested in doing projects and studies on English history, culture and science which might be a reason to visit museums more often. Making new generations treat the national history respectfully is the key to attendance rate increasing and rising patriotic spirit in them.

Conclusion

turn over

To sum up, having reported the main data and given recommendations, I believe that this report will be helpful to get a clear view on the problem. Implementing all of the suggestions will be the best solution in this situation.
